

AJES

ADIRONDACK JOURNAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Volume 3, Number 1

Spring/Summer, 1996

*"Seeking Common Ground among
A Multitude of Viewpoints"*

FEATURING

Mab, Maps, and Method: Small Events, World Significance
Geography of Environmentalism in the Lake Champlain Basin
Beech Bark Disease and Adirondack Hardwoods

AJES

ADIRONDACK JOURNAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Spring/Summer

1996

Lake Lila. (Photo by Gary Randorf)

The Impact of Beech Bark Disease on the Northern Hardwood Forests of the Adirondacks.

Major Consequences of This Seldom-Noticed Disease Richard W. Sage, Jr.

6

Mab, Maps, and Method — An Adirondack Expression of How Small Events Have Larger World Significance

The Keynote Address at the Second ARC Conference William R. Burch, Jr.

9

The Geography of Environmentalism in Water Resources Planning in the Lake Champlain Basin

Differences in Environmental Values between
New Yorkers and Vermonters Bryan Higgins and Richard Kujawa

17

Prerogative

2

Forum

4

ADIRONDACK JOURNAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Seeking Common Ground Among a Multitude of Viewpoints

A Proposed Adirondack Wilderness Planning Strategy

CHAD P. DAWSON

Acid Rain – So What?

DALE FRENCH

Forest Resources on Private Land Within the Adirondack Park

RICHARD H. WIDMANN AND DAVE A. DRAKE

Playing Within the Rules

ROD JOHNSON

Causes and Coalitions for River Conservation in the Adirondacks 1945-1996

DAVID H. GIBSON

AJES

ADIRONDACK JOURNAL OF ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Fall/Winter 1996

Ken Rimany

Prerogative

GARY CHILSON

Page 3

Acid Rain - So What?

DALE FRENCH

Page 6

Playing Within the Rules

ROD JOHNSON

Page 9

Forest Resources on Private Land Within the Adirondack Park

RICHARD H. WIDMANN AND DAVE A. DRAKE

Page 11

Causes and Coalitions for River Conservation in the Adirondacks 1945-1996

DAVID H. GIBSON

Page 19

A Proposed Adirondack Wilderness Planning Strategy

CHAD P. DAWSON

Page 25